Sculptures

S-1 By Blaine Steiner. Bloom, 2019. Cast glass and steel sculpture, designed to reference the growth of Downtown Salisbury in recent years. Funded in part by the Maryland State Arts Council, Salisbury Arts & Entertainment District with support from Salisbury University.

S-2 By Steven Durow. At the River's Edge. 2015. Made from steel salvaged from the long-abandoned structure that stood where the new Rivers Edge Apartments and Studio for the Arts now stands, and was inspired as a metaphor for positive transformation.

S-3 By Alfredo Halegua. Fred P. Adkins Memorial Obelisk. 1970. The 30 foot tall, 4,000 pound aluminum spire was originally commissioned to bring a progressive and modern aesthetic to the Downtown Plaza, as a symbol for the Downtown's revitalization, with respect paid to local businessmen who transform the local economy. Now located at the Mill Street Roundabout.
